Personal information is data that can be used to uniquely identify or contact a single person.

You may be asked to provide your company or personal information whenever you are in contact with Sharp and its affiliates may share this personal information with each other and use it consistent with this Privacy Policy. They may also combine it with other information to provide and improve our products, services, content, and advertising.

Here are some examples of the types of personal information Sharp may collect and how we may use it:

What personal information might we collect?

When you create a Sharp ID, register your subscription, purchase a product, download a software update, or participate in an online survey, we may collect a variety of information, including your name, mailing address, phone number, email address, and contact preferences.

How might we use your personal information?

The personal information we collect allows us to keep you posted on Sharp's latest product announcements, software updates, and upcoming events. It also helps us to improve our services and content. If you don't want to be on our mailing list, you can opt out anytime by sending an email to videxo@Sharp.com

We may use personal information to help us develop, deliver, and improve our products, services, and content.

From time to time, we may use your personal information to send important notices, such as communications about purchases and changes to our terms of service, conditions, and policies. Because this information is important to your interaction with Sharp, you may not opt out of receiving these communications.

We may use personal information for internal purposes such as auditing, data analysis, and research to improve Sharp's products, services, and customer communications.

Collection and Use of Non-Personal Information

We also collect non-personal information – data in a form that does not permit direct association with any specific individual. We may collect, use, transfer, and disclose non-personal information for any purpose. The following are some examples of non-personal information that we collect and how we may use it:

We may collect information such as company, occupation, language, postcode, area code, location, and the time zone where a Sharp product is used so that we can better understand customer behaviour and improve our products and services.

We may collect information regarding customer activities on our website and from our other products and services. This information is aggregated and used to help us provide more useful information to our customers and to understand which parts of our website, products, and services are of most interest. Aggregated data is considered non-personal information for the purposes of this Privacy Policy.

If we do combine non-personal information with personal information the combined information will be treated as personal information for as long as it remains combined.

Cookies and Other Technologies

Sharp's website, online services, interactive applications, email messages, and advertisements may use "cookies" and other technologies such as pixel tags and web beacons. These technologies help us better understand user behaviour, tell us which parts of our website people have visited, and facilitate and measure the effectiveness of advertisements and web searches. We treat information collected by cookies and other technologies as non-personal information. However, to the extent that Internet Protocol (IP) addresses or similar identifiers are considered personal information by local law, we also treat these identifiers as personal information. Similarly, to the extent that non-personal information is combined with personal information, we treat the combined information as personal information for the purposes of this Privacy Policy.

Sharp and our partners also use cookies and other technologies to remember personal information when you use our website, online services, and applications. Our goal in these cases is to make your experience with Sharp more convenient and personal. For example, knowing your first name allows us to welcome you the next time you visit the Sharp portal.

As is true of most websites, we gather some information automatically and store it in log files. This information includes Internet Protocol (IP) addresses, browser type and language, Internet service provider (ISP), referring and exit pages, operating system, date/time stamp, and click-stream data.

We use this information to understand and analyse trends, to administer the site, to learn about user behaviour on the site, and to gather demographic information about our user base as a whole. Sharp may use this information in our marketing and advertising services.

Disclosure to Third Parties

At times Sharp may make certain personal information available to strategic partners that work with Sharp to provide products and services, or that help Sharp with its service delivery. If you are approved for service, your account will be governed by Sharp and its partners and affiliates respective privacy policies. We may also disclose information about you if we determine that for purposes of national security, law enforcement, or other issues of public importance, disclosure is necessary or appropriate.

We may also disclose information about you if we determine that disclosure is reasonably necessary to enforce our terms of service or protect our operations or users. Additionally, in the event of a re-organization, merger, or sale we may transfer any and all personal information we collect to the relevant third party.

Sharp online services use Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) encryption on all web pages where personal information is collected. To make purchases from these services, you must use an SSL-enabled browser such as Safari, Firefox, or Internet Explorer.
